How to Calculate Results

Tally the totals: Count how many answers the user chose in each vertical column.

Identify the Primary Driver: The category with the highest score (e.g., 8 points for The Velocity) is their dominant professional personality.

Identify the Secondary Driver: The second-highest score shows their "support" style—how they adapt when their primary driver isn't enough.

The "Tie-Breaker" Question

You can add one "Golden Question" at the end that only triggers if two categories are level. This question should be a forced choice between the four core drivers.

- The Tie-Breaker Question: "If you had to lead a project tomorrow, which of these is your absolute priority?"

A) Reaching the goal as fast as possible. (Activator)
B) Ensuring the team are vibrant and connected. (Energsier)
C) Making sure every detail is flawless and logical. (Analyser)
D) Ensuring the process is stable and everyone is supported. (Harmoniser)
